Cashel Arts Festival is delighted to offer again this year an exciting and varied schools' programme.

During the month of October, Michael Moylan of Irish History Live has visited 11 schools in Cashel and the surrounding area to bring various periods of History to life by involving approximately 750 pupils in re-enactments and interactive story-telling.

On Monday, 14th November, Julie-Rose McCormick will facilitate a puppet making workshop for the children of Scoil Chormaic and a puppet show for the children of Scoil Aonghusa. Julie-Rose carves, sculpts and designs puppets, masks and costumes for her own productions.

On Tuesday, 15th November, the Army Band will play in Halla na Féile for students from the local primary and secondary schools. During this interactive session, they will listen and learn about the composition of the different sections of the band, the role of the conductor and the compilation of a performance programme.

Pick up a brochure or see www.cashelartsfest.com for full listings of events during the festival, including: An Evening with Gerard Stembridge on Thursday, 17th, An Evening with Comedian/Magician Jack Wise (including 3 course meal) on Friday, 18th, and A Feast of Choral Music on Saturday, 19th. Here's a selection of what else is on during the festival for families...
